

Modern Slavery Statement

Respecting Human Rights

Human rights are basic rights and freedoms to which all people are entitled. Essity supports and respects internationally proclaimed human rights wherever we operate. In line with the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, we have integrated these principles into the Essity Group Code of Conduct, applicable to all Essity companies worldwide and their daily business practices and into the Essity Supplier Code of Conduct, shared with Essity suppliers through the Essity Global Supplier Standard.

This statement describes the steps Essity is taking to prevent modern slavery in its operations and supply chain, in accordance with the United Kingdom's Modern Slavery Act 2015.

Our approach includes a commitment to:

- uphold and communicate our values and standards at our workplace, in our operations and towards our business partners;
- ensure we have processes in place to avoid human rights abuses;
- address any negative human rights impacts which our business may cause or contribute to;
- track and communicate our performance to our stakeholders; and
- use our influence to promote and support human rights in the communities in which we operate through community engagement and external initiatives such as the United Nations Global Compact.
- ensure that we have relevant grievance channels in place, both for our own employees and for external stakeholders

Furthermore, Essity recognizes children as stakeholders who need particular protection. Guided by the Children's Rights and Business Principles we will respect and support children's rights in our business and society. Wherever Essity's business activities impact children, we will have their best interests in mind.

Child Labour

Essity does not accept child labour or other forms of exploitation of children in our operation or value chain, nor in the operations of any business partner. We will always strictly follow applicable national laws and international standards regarding minimum working age wherever we operate. If breaches were to be found in this area, the situation would be remedied as quickly as possible and with the best interest of the child in mind.

Forced Labour

We do not tolerate any form of forced, bonded or compulsory labour or physical punishment. No one may be required to lodge deposits or be deprived of their identity papers upon commencement of their employment. Under no circumstances should workers be charged fees or expenses related to their recruitment and they must always be free to leave their employment in accordance with applicable laws and providing reasonable notice. Employees must report suspicions of forced labour, child labour or physical punishment at any Essity facility or the facilities of any supplier, distributor or other business partner.

Essity has taken a variety of actions to verify the absence of forced labour, slavery and human trafficking in our supply chain, including the following:

1. VERIFICATION AND RISK ASSESSMENT:

For new suppliers, a risk assessment also covering human rights is part of the mandatory qualification process. Furthermore, Essity's major suppliers are evaluated on an annual basis from a risk perspective as a part of the Sourcing Strategy. Among the risks taken into consideration are Financial, Geopolitical, Environmental, Legal, Social/Ethical and Market / Supply. The resulting aggregated risk index for a supplier can trigger a specific Ethical Audit (further information below).

2. GLOBAL SUPPLIER STANDARD COMPLIANCE:

Suppliers are requested to comply with Essity's Global Supplier Standard that includes our Supplier Code of Conduct that states Essity's expectations on suppliers in the following areas:

- compliance with laws,
- health & safety,
- employee relations,
- business practice,
- community relations,
- privacy of data,
- environment
- respect for human rights (specific mention of child, forced or compulsory labour)

Key suppliers' operations are audited to ensure compliance with Essity's Global Supplier Standard on a regular basis.

3. SUPPLIER ETHICAL DATA EXCHANGE (SEDEX):

Suppliers are requested to share their ethical and social status through the online information tool SEDEX (Supplier Ethical Data Exchange) <http://www.sedexglobal.com/>.

4. ETHICAL AUDITS:

Essity conducts Ethical audits (carried out by accredited third-party auditors) based on the SMETA 4-pillar format that includes areas such as labour standards, health & safety and entitlement to work. The decision to initiate an audit is based on international indices such as Sedex risk ranking (based on input from e.g., World Bank, ILO, Transparency International, UNICEF, World Economic Forum) outcome from SEDEX questionnaires or outcome from Essity's own Global Supplier Standard audits.

5. CODE OF CONDUCT:

As a signatory of the United Nations Global Compact since 2008, Essity's Code of Conduct clearly states Essity's position against slavery, bonded labour and trafficking.

Internal accountability standards and procedures are defined to help confirm that employees and suppliers meet Essity standards. Supplier accountability occurs through mechanisms ranging from audit corrective actions (see ETHICAL AUDITS above) to supplier scorecards and quarterly business reviews. Essity is committed to remedy any situation where our activities have caused adverse human rights impact.

A third-party administered grievance channel, Essity's hot line, is available for all employees and external stakeholders, enabling them to report violations of Essity's Code of Conduct.

Essity's Supplier Code of Conduct obliges suppliers to report to their Essity representatives, any suspicions of a material breach of any of the supplier's obligation under the Supplier Code of Conduct, including any breach by Supplier's sub-suppliers. Also, Essity expects its suppliers to have in place effective grievance channels through which employees can report complaints and grievances about their working conditions without fear of retaliation

6. TRAINING:

All Essity supply chain management professionals are trained on the Essity Code of Conduct regularly through a variety of training approaches, from in-person, workshops to online modules. Human trafficking, forced labour and other human rights related issues are consistently covered as part of the training provided. Essity's Global Supply Chain Management organization has responsibility for implementing and monitoring compliance to all the supply chain activities described above.

Our focus on slavery and human trafficking is part of a larger effort to encourage supply chain transparency and accountability. We will not tolerate forced, bonded (including debt bondage) or indentured labour, involuntary prison labour, slavery, or trafficking of persons by any Essity supplier or for any other purpose.

Responsible procurement

Approximately 54% of Essity's strategic suppliers for raw materials and finished products are located in Europe, 37% in North and South America and 9% in Asia and Africa. Many of the strategic suppliers' production facilities located in Asia and Latin America are part of large multinational corporations based in Europe and the US. This is a conscious choice by Essity to reduce the social and ethical risks within the supply chain. 20% of strategic suppliers' manufacturing units are located in high-risk countries according to the Sedex definition. These suppliers are in scope for ethical audits with a focus on health and safety, human rights, employment conditions and corruption.

At the end of 2024, Essity had a total of 1020 suppliers that share data via Sedex. Certain materials, such as cotton and wood fibre, are considered to primarily have risks lower down in the value chain. Essity takes further measures here, such as audits of subcontractors, or chooses certified raw materials that guarantee more sustainable extraction and production. The share of total purchase cost from suppliers that comply with Essity's Global Supplier Standard was 94%.

During 2024 Essity no indications of forced labor were found in the assessments of our suppliers.
